Guidelines on Completion and Submission of Dissertations

Classified into dissertations for requesting degrees (for evaluation), dissertations for submission (printed and bound), and electronic dissertations, all dissertations shall be completed and submitted as specified in this Guidelines on Completion and Submission of Dissertations. Dissertations for submission shall include the seals of approval, approval for submission, abstract, table of contents, main body, and bibliography. In addition, acknowledgements and curriculum vitae may be included optionally. Dissertations shall be prepared in Korean or in English. When a dissertation is prepared in Korean, there should be no English alphabet unless specified otherwise.

1. Dissertations for Requesting Degrees (for Evaluation)

A. Guidelines on Completion

- 1) There is no page limit. Blank white papers of size A4 should be used.
- 2) Both Korean abstract with at most 500 letters and English abstract with at most 300 words must be included (p. 13: Appendix 1).
- 3) For the evaluation of the dissertations for requesting Master and Ph. D. degrees, three and five copies, respectively, shall be submitted to the dissertation committee as described in 'Schedule of Completion and Submission of Dissertations'.
- 4) If the title of the dissertation has been changed since the dissertation proposal, the change shall be recorded in the Request for Evaluation of Ph. D. Dissertation (p. 26: Appendix 2) and submitted to the department or major.

B. Due Date for Submission: Please refer to 'Schedule of Completion and Submission of Dissertations'.

2. Dissertations for Submission (Printed)

A. Guidelines on Completion

- 1) For the dissertations, non-coated white papers of size 210×297 mm (A4) should be used. Each page in the dissertations should have top, bottom, left, and right margins of 30, 25.4, 25.4, and 25.4 mm, respectively.
- 2) Any searchable font type is allowed and no scanned letter/alphabet is allowed. For Korean, 명조, 궁서, 신명조, 바탕체, 굴림체 are recommended. For English, Arial and Times New Roman are recommended.
- 3) The dissertation shall be bound with the seals (or signatures) of the dissertation committee members certifying the completion of dissertation evaluation (p. 11: Appendix 1). Note that spring bound is prohibited. Two copies with hardcover to be submitted shall bear actual seals or signatures (photocopies of seals or signatures prohibited). For other copies, on the other hand, photocopies of seals or signatures are allowed.
- 4) As for other formats, please refer to Examples with Explanations (Appendix 1).

B. Submission Procedure

Once the dissertation for requesting a degree has been approved by the dissertation committee, the submitter shall: ❶ send the dissertation, converted into a computer file according to the guidelines on completing electronic dissertations, to the library homepage (<http://library.kaist.ac.kr>); ❷ print out Agreement to Disclose Electronic Dissertation (p. 29: Appendix 2) from the same homepage; ❸ verify with the department office whether the titles of the printed dissertation and the dissertation on CAIS are the same (if they are different, they shall be corrected and confirmed by affixing administrative confirmation at the bottom of the Agreement to Disclose Electronic Dissertation); and ❹ submit to the Affiliated Department Office ❺ 4 copies of the dissertation, completed and printed according to this Guidelines on the Completion and Submission of Dissertations, on or before the due date.

- ① The submitter must send an electronic dissertation in the form of a computer file to “Thesis Submission” on the library homepage (<http://library.kaist.ac.kr>)
- ② The submitter must submit the Agreement to Disclose Electronic Dissertation (to be printed out from the library homepage and sealed or signed by the submitter and department office).
- ③ The submitter must verify with the department office whether the title of the printed dissertation and that of the dissertation on the CAIS agree with each other.
- ④ The submitter must submit 4 copies of the printed dissertation (2 hardcover editions; 2 softcover editions) and 1 copy of the Agreement to Disclose Electronic Dissertation.

C. Due Date for Submission: Please refer to 'Schedule of Completion and Submission of Dissertations'.

D. Deferral of Degree Conferment

Regardless of the results of thesis evaluation, the College Academic Deliberation Committee may postpone degree conferral in cases of students who fail to submit their printed thesis by the deadline or who are unable to graduate for other reasons.

Students whose degree conferral has been postponed are required to undergo thesis evaluation again before the meeting of the College Academic Deliberation Committee in the desired semester of graduation (applicable to all students submitting dissertations for evaluation in the spring semester of 2003 and onwards).

E. Disclosure of Dissertations

- 1) Printed dissertations shall be disclosed. However, in case there exist special reasons not to disclose printed dissertations, a completed copy of 'Request for Non-Disclosure of Printed Dissertation' (p. 30) shall be submitted.
- 2) As for the disclosure of electronic dissertations, the submitter must select either disclosure or non-disclosure. In the case of non-disclosure, the reasons and period must be stipulated in detail.

F. Additional Remarks

The title of the printed dissertation and the title of the dissertation entered in CAIS must agree: If they do not agree, the certificate of graduation will bear a wrong title.

Chapter 1. Introduction

1.1 Research Background

System models are simple and abstract expressions of specific systems designed to predict the behavior of the systems in question. Examples of such models include airplane models used in wind tunnels to predict the drag load of airplanes, structural models used in civil engineering, and breadboards used to design circuits. As the physical expressions of actual models, these models are called physical models.
